

JACK QUINN PUTS IT ALL OVER THE COLTS

Former Virginia Leaguer Comes Back to Show Locals How the Game Should Be Played--Colts Not Discouraged by Defeat.

Jack Quinn seemed to have no compassion for his former teammates at Broad Street Park yesterday, and through nine innings, some of them frightful in consequences for the Colts, he allowed just six hits. Titman was the only player who fanned on the Richmond side, but nearly all the balls, especially in the early innings, were batted to the infield, and of those that got outside many were flies. Brown started the hitting for the Colts in the sixth, and in the seventh Landgraf secured his first safety.

The game was neither fast, nor was it slow enough to cause a kick from the spectators. The Americans kept things going with the stick, and in every inning except two succeeded in landing on the local pitchers. Baker was in the game, but he did not show his usual form, and both his errors were on easy chances. Walter's error, run, in the third, on a drive to deep centre might have been nothing more than a two-base hit if Titman had looked to see where he was throwing the ball.

Quinn Was in Fine Shape.

Quinn's performance in the box was the main feature of the game, especially as few in the crowd have forgotten his record in the Virginia League, and his appearance was enough to satisfy those who turned out.

Until the sixth inning he held Lawlor's men without a hit, and only fifteen men faced him. Even in this inning, Brown was caught at first, and just three men came to bat. Landgraf distinguished himself by getting two hits, one a two-bagger, which makes his hitting average .500.

In the fifth, the Americans, while Brooks was in the box, landed on the young try-out in savage fashion, and did not rest until seven singles, which netted as many runs as occurred. Hale was also an easy mark for the visitors. Reville did not appear to the best advantage, and the home-run might have been prevented if he had not tried to toy with a big league batsman. Knight, with four hits, was the batting star.

There is no disappointment in being beaten by big leaguers, and the only effort to be made is to try to keep the scores within reasonable limits. This the Colts failed in yesterday, but the sign is not a bad one, and indications are that the locals are just about as strong now as any team they will have to oppose in the pennant race. Five of the New Yorkers fanned.

GAME REplete WITH ERRORS.

Poor Exhibition Between New York Americans and Norfolk Tars.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Norfolk, Va., April 8.—Both the New York Americans and the Tars put up a poor exhibition of the national sport this afternoon on Athletic Field, the visitors winning out by the score of 19 to 2. The game was replete with errors, and the errors what does not show up in the box score, dumb work in the field. The game was punctuated at times by fast plays and pretty catches, but the general "poor" work left such a bad taste behind that these could not be fully appreciated. Engle's work in the field and his hard hitting were features. Homer led the batters, closely followed by Munson, Walker, Madden, Laporte and Johnson.

ACADEMY IS EASY FOR HIGH SCHOOL

John Marshall Boys Dazzle Opponents With Many Hits and Runs.

The John Marshall High School ball team met the Richmond Academy yesterday afternoon on the Richmond College diamond and defeated them by a score of 21 to 5. The game was a swift, hit-and-run affair following each other in rapid succession. The result was never in doubt, as the High School hit the ball almost at will, while the Academy found great difficulty in landing on Vampelt, who fanned Green out of twenty-seven batsmen. Other features were the batting of Pearson, who made five hits, and a home run by Vampelt with the bases filled.

PITCHERS PLAY STAR BALL.

Rochester Team Defeats Tobaccoists by Score of Nine to One.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Danville, Va., April 8.—The Rochester team, of the Eastern League, defeated Danville in the second of the series of exhibition games here this afternoon by the score of 9 to 1. The pitching of McConnell for the visitors and of Hankins for the locals were the features of the game. McConnell has plenty of speed and control, and held down the Tobaccoists at all times. Schrader, the first baseman, again played a star game, and has already won the approval of the fans.

PLAY THE GAME.

Roanoke and Greensboro Step After Eighth Inning.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Roanoke, Va., April 8.—Greensboro played the Roanoke champions here this afternoon, and the game was called at the end of the eighth inning with the score 5 to 3. The weather was disagreeable, but despite this fact the clubs gave a pretty exhibition.

$1.00 Will Go As Far in BEAUTIFUL

Woodland Heights

As $15 to $20 will in the crowded west end, exactly the same distance from the City Hall. In natural advantages, the Woodland Heights location leads and as to "city improvements," we also have most of these, such as granolithic sidewalks, sewers, water, telephones, electric lights.

Now, isn't it common sense to take the big, roomy property, where the family may have a chance of being out of doors in the fresh air and the sunlight, where flowers, fruits and birds abound, where the views are magnificent, rather than be cooped up in a city house, with the usual "back yard," the street or the alley as the only places where the children may go for outdoor play.

Woodland Heights is Restricted

It will always be a desirable residential section. It is developing along substantial lines and few suburbs have as bright a future.

WILL TRAIN HARD FOR HOPKINS MEET

Virginia Looking Forward With Interest to Track Events in May.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Charlottesville, Va., April 8.—With the hard work of the past week accomplished, the Virginia track team will take a rest of several weeks before going into training for the dual meet with Johns Hopkins, which takes place on Lambeth Field Saturday, May 14. This annual meet is always followed with great interest, as there has always been keen rivalry between the two institutions in this line of sport. For the past two years, Virginia has had the better of the bargain, winning last year's contest, in Baltimore, by an overwhelming score.

Those who put their faith in comparisons will consider with no little interest the results of the Virginia-Pennsylvania meet here last Wednesday week, and the Hopkins-Pennsylvania meet, in Baltimore, two days later. Virginia scored thirty-two points on the strong Northern team, while Hopkins made only thirteen. However, third place did not count in the latter meet, but on the same scoring basis as in the former contest, Hopkins would have been credited with eighteen points. But this is not indicative of Hopkins' strength, for Horrax, the crack hurdler, was not in the running. The Virginia team is not expecting a walkover, and the training for the meet with the hardest of the season. It is hoped that Captain "Larry" Martin, who recently recovered from a spell of pneumonia, will be able to compete in this meet, in which event Virginia will be able to show her full strength.

As Virginia entered the Intercollegiate Association last year, it had been intended to send three men to the games in Philadelphia on May 28 and 29, but the General Athletic Association has thought this inadvisable. The three entries would probably have been Staunton, Wiltshire and Martin, if the last named had gotten in condition. The rumor that Staunton is in bad condition for track work is unfounded, and he will make a strong bid for points in future meets.

At the Orchestral Concert next Monday Mrs. Browning will sing "The Wandered Down" and other songs.
